TowerHunter, Inc. Announces New Location

Executive Search Firm Expands Headquarters in Phoenix

August 15, 2007 – Phoenix, AZ – TowerHunter, Inc., one of the country’s most highly regarded executive search firms, announces its new corporate headquarters at 4550 E. Bell Rd. in North Phoenix, (Bell Road, West of Tatum). Managing Partner, Terry Hindmarch points out, “As our team has continued to expand to meet the needs of our customer base, we felt it was imperative to create a consolidated location where our Phoenix area search consultants and researchers could work side-by-side, creating an integrated approach to our client solutions.”

Featuring quality architectural designs and state-of-art technology, the new TowerHunter office provides features such as video conferencing capabilities, an aspect growing in demand in today’s competitive, executive search arena. Scott Smith, Managing Partner states, “We are in an exciting phase of our search practice, as our reputation, both locally and nationally, has gained tremendous recognition and respect for our results-focused, quality approach, and pay for performance fee structure.

With offices in Phoenix, Arizona and Washington, D.C., TowerHunter is a national retained executive search firm that partners with clients to fill critical leadership positions. TowerHunter practice areas include: healthcare and insurance; financial services/banking; lean/six sigma; human resources; and manufacturing. Scott Smith and Terry Hindmarch, Managing Partners, lead a full team of seasoned search consultants and researchers throughout the country.
